The New Yorkers, however, were unable to solve Carter's delivery. Demarce went the route for New York. Sallee, Perritt and Schupp warmed up with Rariden and McCarty before the game. The regulars were sent through some rapid batting practice by McGraw, who pitched to the men before the game started. The club was late in arriving in Chicago.

Brokers Forced to Pay Back Deposit Money-Box Seats Now Selling for $75—Betting About Even-National Commission Meets Today to Decide Ground Rules and Other Playing Condition—Series Interest Intense in Chi-

Chicago, Oct. 4.—With fair weather promised for the opening game of the world's series Saturday between the New York Nationals and the Chicago Americans and the ticket scalpers apparently routed, the invaders were defeated in a practice game with the Chicago Nationals this afternoon by a score of 9 to 5. The season being over, the spectators took little interest in the score, but much in the batting. The attendance was small, but this was no criterion of the interest felt in the big series. It is intense.

The recent announcements of There will be a meeting of the Na-series. It is intense.

The recent announcements of those, who, as brokers, work in between the box office and the ultimate consumer that they would have plenty of tickets for all at ultra-profiteering prices went into eclipse during the day, but their prices soared. The brokers paid back thousands of dollars in deposits and it was learned definitely that none of them had more than a dozen of the three game tickets for sale. The price of box seats accordingly soared to $75 and even the mere reserved seats were quoted, for three sittings of two or three hours each, sittings of two or three hours each, at $35. at $35.

The paucity of scalper tickets was attributed to the energy which Owner Comiskey displayed in seeking to circumvent the practice. He held back distribution until this morning; he humbered the tickets and indexed the names of purchasers; he obtained the aid of the state's attorney and the chief of police, and promised full publicity in the advertising column of the newspapers wherever he found that a purchaser had transferred his ticket to a broker.

The lines at four ticket offices at the ball park began forming at 7 o'clock this morning and the procession continued until all of the 15,000 reserved seat tickets had been given out.

In the matter of betting, the locals talked loudly of 6 to 5 on the Comiskey team and New York adherents talked the same odds as to their men, but what actual betting could be located was at even money on the result. There were many freak bets, involving small sums, ranging from 10 the lead.

Manager McGraw sent his regular lineup, with the exception of his battery men, into the game at the start. Burns, Herzog, Kauff, Zimmerman, Fletcher and Holke were given a rest after they had played a few innings. Herzog played at his regular gait. He showed much speed in running on one occasion when he slid under O'Farrell after a sacrifice fly to short center.

While the crowd was clamoring for tickets outside the White Sox park the American League champions put in several hours of practice. The diamond was a bit soggy, due to recent heavy rains, and it was covered tonight so as to be in shape for the final practice tomorrow. "Kid" Gleason, the coach, was in charge of the practice, Later Manager Rowland addressed the players in the clubhouse.

There will be a meeting of the National Baseball Commission comorrow, when ground rules and other playing conditions of the series will be explained to the four umpires, the scorers, and Managers McGraw and Rowland. There also will be a meeting of the Baseball Writers' Association of America in regard to details of the series.

Shorts Had No Difficulty in Extending Their Operations.

New York, Oct. 4.—On a pronounced accession of offerings, liquidation of stocks assumed wider proportions today, taking in shares of all descriptions. At no time did the decline meet with more than casual opposition. Sentiment was preponderantly bearish and the shorts experienced no difficulty in extending their operations. Some of the day's advices were distinctly hopeful, notably the review of the federal reserve board, which emphasized the improved business conditions of the country.

War shares and industrials in general displayed increasing weakness in the face of such favorable developments as the awarding of additional large orders for supplies by home and foreign governments. Absence of buying power constituted the most disconcerting feature of the market.

Extreme recessions of two to six points were made by active industrials such as Steels, equipments, motors, oils and tobaccos, final quotations for the most part being within a fraction of the day's lowest levels. PITCHING STAFFS OF

New York, Oct. '.—No single factor has a greater bearing upon the outcome of a World's Series than the pitching staff of the two teams involved. This is an accepted axiom of professional bateball which is particularly true of the two lubbs which professional baseball which is par-ticularly true of the two clubs which are scheduled to begin their battle for the premier honors of the diamond at Chicago on Saturday.

John McGraw comes out in an article in the World's Series Baseball Magazine, maintaining that he has spent less money on the Giants than Comiskey has on the White Sox. The New York players, however, be-lieve that they will face Cicotte and Faber, both right handers, more frequently than the White Sox southquently than the White Sox southpaws. For this reason they are particularly interested in the delivery of thees wto pitchers, especially the so-called "shine ball" of Cicotte. There is a wide difference of opinion among even the American League batters regaring the methods or means by which Cicotte gets the wierd curves and breaks which has made his delivery so effective this season. It is certain that the Giants will scrutinize both the ball and breaks with extraordinary care in the coming contests. Faber's

The Giants' strongest box quartet will probably be composed of Schupp and Benton, all left handers, with Perritt the leading right hander. Anderson, Tesreau and Demaree will form the second string and any one of this trio may prove unexpectedly effective under certain weather and sky conditions. It will be seen, however, that the Glants' leading boxmen are south-paws and if the records are correct the White Sox will not be so handi-capped before this form of delivery as would appear to be the general im far as other departments of plain which the pitchers are concerned there does not appear to be any great advantage one way or the other. In batting and fielding there is little margin on either side. The Giants' twirlers have a few more double plays to their credit and the White Sox hurlers have the edge on stolen bases.

What Makes a Great Catcher. By Ray Schalk,

Ray Schalk is conceded by those who know, to be the backbone of the White Sox defense. In the World's Series issue of the Baseball Magazine the brilliant catcher outlines the things which he believes are of prime importance in his position.

things which he believes are of prime importance in his position:

I have read with great interest several attacks on the present system of scoring baseball records. To my mind the criticisms, most of them at least, are sound, though it isn't easy to suggest improvements. Off hand I would say that fielding averages are pretty bad, pitchers' averages rather punk, batting averages merely fair. But the worst of all are catchers' averages. How are you going to tell a good catcher? By his helding average? By the runs he scores? Of course all these things are important. But they haven't any direct connection with good, bad or indifferent catching as such. A catcher may or may not be a good batter or base runner. And whatever his hitting or run getting ability, he Not a man. I made them all what they were and they were good enough to win the National flag three times running.

the Giants will scrutinize both the ball and breaks with extraordinary care in the coming contests. Faber's "moist ball" delivery is also certain to bother the New York batters, especially if the pitcher can maintain control. Russell and Danforth are the formidable left handers likely to be used against the McGrawites.

Now the catcher, above all men, must have a good baseball brain. Most of his work, the most important part of his work, is hidden from the spectators' eye. The man in the stands can seldom follow what is going on in the catcher's brain. But the catcher, much more than the pitcher, holds the game in the hollow of his hand. The catcher, much more than the pitcher, is the keystone of the baseball arch.

Crawled Under Freight Car-Leg Mangled.

Waterville, Conn., Oct. 4.—Sidney Davis, Jr., four years old, crawled un-der a freight car in the rear of the American Pin company shop here today and when the car was moved the little fellow's left leg was so badly mangled that it was later amputated at St. Mary's hospital in Waterbury. The surgeons there hold out hope for the recovery of the boy.
